ANNOUNCEMENT

GambleAware publishes its innovative applied research invitation to tender

London, 5 October: GambleAware has launched another round of its innovative applied research invitation to tender (ITT).

GambleAware is looking to fund research that brings new ideas and approaches to the field of gambling-related harms, as well as provide an opportunity for researchers and professionals from other fields to get involved with its work. Between 2018 and 2020, GambleAware will commission £2 million of innovative applied research grants that bring forward novel new approaches, evidence and insights that can be applied to policy and used by practitioners and professionals across industry and wider society. There are four central themes for this grants scheme:

1. The Gaming/Gambling Interface (exploring relationships between online gaming, gambling, the role of technology and the internet)
2. Mental Health, Gambling and Wellbeing (particularly issues relating to resilience and prevention for people of all ages)
3. Corporate Social Responsibility, Sustainability and Responsible Marketing in Gambling (and other business research areas in gambling)
4. Cross-cutting Research in Gambling Studies (such as socio-cultural inequalities in gambling, gender diversity and gambling, social policy and gambling, employment studies in gambling).

Further information, including the ITT, supporting document and guidance on the commissioning process, can be found here.

NOTES

- GambleAware is an independent charity tasked to fund research, education and treatment services to help to reduce gambling-related harms in Great Britain. GambleAware is a commissioning and grant-making body, not a provider of services.
- GambleAware published a 5-year strategy in November 2016, and in July 2018 published a Strategic Delivery Plan that sets out how the charity proposes to broaden the range of services and activities it funds, supports and works with between 2018 and 2020.
- Guided by the National Responsible Gambling Strategy, the charity's strategic aims are to: broaden public understanding of gambling-related harms, in particular as a public health issue; advance the cause of harm-prevention so as to help build resilience, in particular in relation to the young and those most vulnerable to gambling-related harms; and help those who do develop gambling-related harms get the support that they need quickly and effectively. For more information, please go to: <http://about.gambleaware.org/>
- The current National Responsible Gambling Strategy was published in April 2016 by the Responsible Gambling Strategy Board (RGSB) and endorsed by the Gambling Commission. GambleAware develops its commissioning plans in collaboration with the RGSB and the Gambling Commission. These arrangements are underpinned by an 'assurance and governance framework' in place since 2012:
<http://about.gambleaware.org/media/1216/statementofintent.pdf>.
- Research is conducted under the terms of a 'Research Commissioning and Governance Procedure' agreed between the RGSB, the Gambling Commission and GambleAware: <https://about.gambleaware.org/media/1332/research-commissioning-and-governance-procedure-september-2016-final.pdf>. A revised RGSB and Gambling Commission research programme was published in September 2018 and sets out priorities for research to be commissioned from 2018 to 2022.
- GambleAware requires a minimum of £10 million annually to deliver its current responsibilities, and looks to all those that profit from commercial gambling to support the charity. This donation-based system was proposed after the Gambling Act 2005 and is prescribed by the Gambling Commission's Social Responsibility Code Provision 3.1.1.(2). The RGSB endorsed GambleAware's £10m funding goal in January 2017:

- GambleAware funds the Gordon Moody Association, the NHS National Problem Gambling Clinic, GamCare and a network of charities across Great Britain to provide a full range of free treatment for problem gamblers and support for those affected by them. GambleAware also runs the website BeGambleAware.org which helps 2.7 million visitors a year, and supports the National Gambling Helpline – 0808 8020 133.
